JULIE'S JAUNTS

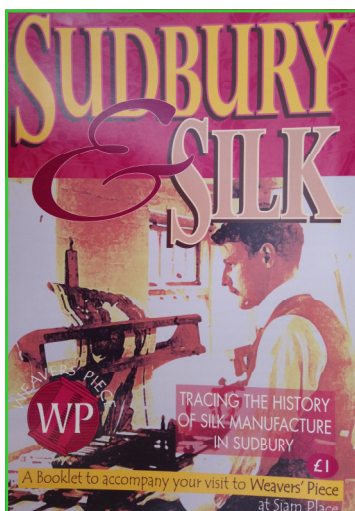

Now, you can't have failed to have notice that Sudbury has received a lot of publicity lately about its role in the Silk Industry. There can't be a single person left in Sudbury who doesn't know that we are.....

THE SILK CAPITAL OF THE UK!

The recent Silk Festival was a huge success with most events sold out, including the Silk Walks that took place on the day. The Tourist Information Centre has been running these walks for a number of years but it seemed that it needed a Silk Festival to bring them to the public's attention.

I was lucky enough to go on one of the guided walks recently and what an enjoyable time I had. The experienced guide met us at the library and after giving us a short talk about the history of the area, we set off up Gainsborough Street for the first surprise of the day. Now, I don't want to spoil this for future participants but sometimes it just takes a tour like this to point out things that have always been just under your nose (or should I say above your head) for years. It is difficult to write much more about all the facts I learnt, but I would definitely recommend this tour if you would like to find out more about this aspect of our towns heritage and see some of the buildings associated with this industry.

If you would like to go on the last Silk Walk of 2019 it is on Thursday 7th November at 11am. Do purchase your ticket in advance from the Tourist Information Centre, as we are certain that date will be a sell-out.

If you do miss this walk, we will publish our 2020 Silk Walk dates in future editions of this Events Guide. In the meantime, how about buying one of our Sudbury & Silk leaflets for just 50p or our beautiful Sudbury Silk gifts, perfect for Christmas presents!
